

FOOD SAFETY

Alberta Potato Growers have a proud history of producing safe, high quality potatoes.

Our commitment to food safety starts with the management of our potato crops. How we take care of the soil, water and nutrients, how we rotate crops, and how we store potatoes ensure our members grow and process quality, safe potatoes to consumers.

Alberta Potato Growers proactively developed and implemented an On-Farm Food Safety program, called CanadaGAP. This program meets national food safety guidelines and controls potential contamination sources at every stage of potato production, clear accountability that provides another level of assurance for government and consumers.

Our efforts to develop the CanadaGAP On-Farm Food Safety program are a part of our unwavering commitment to producing safe, healthy, quality potatoes for industry and consumers
